My name is Gonzalo Enei. I'm a founder and product maker.

I co-founded Faces, a presentations platform where every slide is a software artifact. I was the CEO for 3 years. We built several other AI-native products, including a Workspace where every tool was usable by humans and agents.

Before that, I was employee No.11 at Fintual, which makes investing easy for people in LatAm. I was Head of Growth and later VP of Product, as we grew from $10M to $650M in assets under management in four years.

I'd like to work at Beast Industries because I'm a fan of both media and product building. My first startup was a positive content company called El Vaso Medio Lleno, which got to 23M views a month. Recently, I've been building AI-native applications and agents. Both things are really what I do for fun.

I also love fast-paced environments with no BS bureaucracy.

I built Sancho, an AI family assistant that makes sure my wife and I keep up with our kids' day-to-day. I also made a conversational interviews prototype, where you have an AI talk to a person instead of sending a survey, and an iOS app for planning and managing social media posts.

Co-founded and led Faces, presentations where every slide is as dynamic as the web, generated by AI. Launched in Feb 2026, close to 100k signups. We also shipped several experimental products: an LLM-product prototyping canvas, autonomous workers, an AI-native workspace, and a Chrome extension that generated new interfaces on top of web pages. Hi Ventures and Bessemer backed us. Faces is sunsetting at the end of 2026.
